Natural Veneer Stone

A large, multi-story stone house with a balcony and a stone staircase. The house is built with light-colored, rough-hewn stone. It features several windows, including a large arched window on the second floor and a smaller arched window on the first floor. A balcony with a black wrought-iron railing is attached to the second floor. A stone staircase with a black wrought-iron railing leads up to the house. The house is set against a blue sky with some clouds. Trees with autumn foliage are visible in the background.

About Us

The Rademann Family has been quarrying and producing Natural Stone Products for over 75 years.

Family patriarch, the late Richard Rademann, began quarrying stone in the 1940s. Richard began with one front-end loader, limited quarry space, and just two employees. This sparked the interest of his two sons to become involved in the quarry business.

One of the sons, the late Keith Rademann, company founder and former President of Rademann Stone and Landscape Co. Inc., purchased our quarry land in 1961. At this point Rademann Stone and Landscape Co. was incorporated and the 2nd generation of the company was headed down the path as a large quarrying operation. In 1976, Keith partnered with Mike Meilahn who ran and operated the landscape install side of the business. This allowed Keith to focus on the quarry operations. The main focus of the company at that time, was quarrying and producing natural stone products for landscaping. Mike Meilahn is the current Vice President of the company. A role he has maintained since partnering with Keith in 1976.

Throughout the early 1990's Keith began to relinquish some of his stock in the company to his children Ron, Rick, Karen and Kathy. At this point the company started producing veneer stone for the building industry. The company invested heavily in buildings and equipment to cut, saw and split stone to be used for veneer. In 2005, the shift to the 3rd generation was complete and Rick was named President of the company.

As the 3rd generation continued to grow and adapt to industry trends, the landscape install operations were ceased. This allowed us to focus exclusively on quarrying and manufacturing high quality natural stone product for the landscape and veneer stone industries. The goal of the 3rd generation has been to grow a solid business model and provide a work ethic that can be passed from generation to generation. Plans are in place for members of the 4th generation to join the leadership team at Rademann Stone and Landscape Co., Inc. This will position the organization for continued growth in the decades to come.
